Want to get your new keyword optimized web page, blog post or article to rank high the search engines?

Use Vince Severson's new Article Marketing Robot to secure hundreds, even thousands of anchor text rich backlinks and the results may surprise, even shock you!

Seriously. Over the years, I have used every article marketing software and submission tool that exists. Most distribute to a very low number of directories and/or promise submission to hundreds but, due to a lack of programmer updates, end up submitting to only a handful. Which is fine if you are looking for the occasional reader or backlink.

But if you are looking for spin and submit a unique copy of your article to over 3,000 unique article directories, blogs and other web 2.0 sites that accept content... AMR is the solution you have been waiting for.

I'm going to post a three-part review/tutorial here because it is important for you to know EXACTLY how and why I've used AMR to help me rake in over $4,000 in affiliate commissions, add over $1,000 in monthly residuals income, and get literally a dozen new web pages to rank on the first page of google for some very competitive keywords.

Article Marketing Robot Review - Introduction

Any tool is most effective when used for the purpose intended and article marketing robot is intended to spin and distribute a unique copy of an article to hundreds, even thousands of websites.

However, even when you have great content sitting on thousands of sites - that does not mean thousands of people will find, read and appreciate your content. In fact, I've found I get very little actual traffic from even the largest of directories... EzineArticles... unless the article ranks on Google for a specific, highly searched keyword. So I've found the best use of AMR is to help the original content rank by making it incredibly easy and inexpensive to get a ton of relevant backlinks to the original.

Making money with article marketing software is as simple as:

- selecting a target market
- discovering that market wants to buy, and
- making it very easy for them to buy from you.

I use Market Samurai for keyword research and The Best Spinner to spin the original article. Article Marketing Robot does come with a built-in spinner, but it requires you going "manually" through the article, selecting words to spin, and picking options from a thesaurus. Over time, as you save these settings, you can automate the process. But you get one-click spins right out of the box with the best spinner.

Impressed? I am. Article Marketing Robot is, hands down, the best article marketing submission software I have ever used.

It is also very well documented and, after signing up for a DeCapcha account (costs $2 to solve 1,000 captcha codes), it took me less than an hour to set up everything and have over 2,000 directories and websites approve my new author account - 100% on complete autopilot.

As far as actual submissions go - you have the choice to "drip" submissions out over time or to submit copies of your content to all the directories at one time. Either way, expect to see a very solid 60-70% approval rate.

I've had the best results MASS SUBMITTING if I am linking back to content posted on a well-established authority site like EzineArticles, HubPages, Squidoo or Youtube videos and DRIP SUBMITTING if linking back to a new domain with less age and authority.

Another powerful feature is AMR gives you the ability to check to see if your articles were approve and let's you save these new urls in a variety of formats like an html page, csv document or even a compiled RSS feed. While easy to use, this is really an "advanced" seo feature designed for those who want to help the search engines find these new links faster. And THAT secret is beyond the scope of this article. Besides, unless you are targeting a very competitive niche keyword (and why would you do that?!) - taking the extra step to help these links get indexed is somewhat over doing it.
